Western Currency Facility Public Tour & Visitor Center

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) produces the nation's currency, or banknotes, in only two cities: Washington, D.C. and Fort Worth.

Fort Worth Botanic Garden

The 109-acre botanical garden, with more than 2,500 types of exotic and native plants, features a tropical plant conservatory, rose and Japanese gardens, open areas and walkways.

Fort Worth Herd

Each morning in the Historic Stockyards 15 Texas longhorn cattle are rounded up from their corral and driven by cowhands in authentic dress down Exchange Avenue to the delight of tourists and locals alike. The herd is driven back at 4 p.m.

Fort Worth Museum of Science and History

To strengthen the museum's presentation of history, the expansion incorporates a major new center for the Cattle Raisers Museum. Exhibits also include DinoLabs; Paluxysaurus jonesi, the official dinosaur of Texas; the Noble Planetarium; the Fort Worth Children's Museum; Innovation Studios; six glass-walled spaces near the main entrance offering hands-on demonstrations; and the Omni Imax Theater.

Fort Worth Stockyards

International visitors are drawn to the Old West feel of the Historic Stockyards District's brick streets and restored buildings.

Fort Worth Zoo

The Fort Worth Zoo, considered one of the top attractions in the country, is Fort Worth's most popular tourist attraction, with more than 1.2 million visitors annually. The zoo is home to more than 5,000 exotic animals.

Japanese Garden

Part of the Fort Worth Botanic Garden, the Japanese Garden were constructed from an old gravel pit used to build the streets of old Fort Worth. Today it has seven different crossings, three main pools filled with fish, a meditation garden, tea house, pagoda and moon deck.

Kimbell Art Museum

Designed by architect Luis I. Kahn, the Kimbell is not only America's best small museum, but also a beautiful work of architecture.

Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth

Designed by world-renowned architect Tadao Ando, the Modern is the second-largest contemporary art museum in America, next to New York's MoMA.

Nancy Lee and Perry R. Bass Performance Hall

The Bass Performance Hall, called the “last great performance hall built in the 20th century,” serves as a permanent home to performing arts organizations in Fort Worth. The $60 million, 2,000 seat, art-deco auditorium houses the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra, the Fort Worth-Dallas Ballet, the Fort Worth Opera and the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition.

National Cowgirl Museum and Hall of Fame

The only museum in the world dedicated to honoring and documenting the distinguished women of the American West includes three permanent galleries, traveling exhibits, a multi-purpose theater, a research library, a retail store, and the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Sid Richardson Collection of Western Art

This exhibit includes the largest single collection of works by Frederic Remington and Charles Russell, considered by many to be the finest of the western artists.
